DATE OF THE SENIOR PLAY
HAS NOW BEEN SELECTED

February 27 Is the Day Chosen—"Manoeuvres of Jane" Is To Be the Title—Cast Is Named

The senior play will be presented this year on Friday, February 27, at the Royal Victoria College. Rehearsals for the performance have been in progress for several weeks, and last night the date was announced. As previously stated, the piece chosen is "The Manoeuvres of Jane," a light comedy in three acts by J. M. Barrie. The cast is chosen from the members of the class of 1914, in Arts, and the Royal Victoria Collage, appear to be admirably suited to their roles. Miss Helen Taylor and Miss Norrie Burridge, as Jane Nangle and Constantia Gape, are proving themselves to be very capable actresses. Messrs. MacKeen, Hemming, Willgress, McConnel, and Hetherington, the leading male roles, are sure to create a sensation. Others included in the cast are Misses Bodie, MacKenzie, Greggs, Longworth, Fritz, Lingle, Currie and MacArthur, and Messrs. McTavish, Gale and Moody.

The seats will not be reserved, and will sell at seventy-five cents. Ticket sale will be opened in a few days. Last year the hall was well filled, and it is expected that this year an even greater number will attend.

An added attraction will be the presence of the now famous McGill Orchestra. Better this year than ever, they will render several selections on the evening of the performance never before given by them in public.

THE PARTY'S THREE PLANKS

Eloquent Speech on Aims of Conservatives

R. B. BENNETT

One of the Famous Leaders of his Party Outlines Platform at Strathcona Hall Meeting

How the Conservative party is facing and the Liberals failed to face, the great problems which now confront the Canadian citizen, was outlined in a most eloquent address at Strathcona Hall yesterday afternoon by R. B. Bennett, M.P., one of the leaders in the political arena at Ottawa. Those difficulties which had to be overcome to bring about Confederation and the creation of the provinces of the Dominion have now been solved, and now a tri-fold problem must be solved.

In what way should Canadian life trend on the matter of Transportation, the Tariff, and her relations with those other colonies which with the British Isles, form the British Empire? Co-operation and co-operation in railroads and construction, one end of the connection to the other; protection for home industries; and unity within the Empire are, according to Mr. Bennett, was the answer.

He said that the Liberal policy had been one of the "To-day," while that of the Conservatives was looking forward to the "To-morrow," and pointed out in what the administration of the earlier regime had been hampered by the thoughts of present "profits."

"Let us consider the Transportation problem," he said. "What had we in 1886? One great transcontinental railway. The Liberals came into power, and added canal after canal; they subsidized two more transcontinental lines, although in the United States, not until the year 1900 reached 25 million miles, when they have a transcontinental that was not a failure."

"They took no thought of the morrow," said Mr. Bennett. "Sufficient unto the day were the profits thereof. Millions of dollars were absolutely lost."

"So the first thing we had to do was to apprise ourselves of what we had to do. The late administration left isolated bits of work here and there; we had to join up these stretches."

"The characteristics of the Liberal party would have been like those of the man who answered the question: 'What should I do for posterity?' You have posterity done for me?" You and I ladies, and gentlemen have a solemn duty to see that the generations here and abroad, there. But upon this duty come after us should rise up and call us blessed."

"The Conservatives have always preached that we can only build up our nation by protection for our industries. I preach the same doctrine to the plains, and to the manufacturing places. The Liberal party have a solemn duty to see that the generations here and abroad, there. But upon this duty come after us should rise up and call us blessed."

"I want the wheat to feed the Canadian workmen; the workmen to clothe the farmer. Thus the Canadian farmer, workmen and all shall profit to the end of the prosperity of the Dominion."

Discussing the late Reciprocity campaign, the Liberals, Mr. Bennett said: "The Dominion have 500 million dollars worth of railways on which they must pay the interest. If you have free wheat, going north and south, how are you to provide that interest. The great port of Montreal, and those at the head of the Great Lakes, depend on the export of wheat. In the West, this is the cause of the expenditure in the East. The great dredging work, the wharves and docks built in St. John and Halifax are not for the Nova Scotia trade, Montreal is not being built up for herself. The Liberal cry is 'More railways; free wheat, and less rates.'

"I preach a National Policy for Canada," he concluded. "I'm content to stand or fall by that."

"Are you going to be part of the British Empire? are you not?" asked Mr. Bennett in dealing with the final question of Canada's Imperial policy. My friends, I believe as so solemnly as I am standing here, that the greatest thing in the British Empire. Believing that I'm willing to make a slight sacrifice for her."

"Canada has tremendous tonnage on the High Seas. She has no defence for any of it. We give three capital ships to the British Empire. Why? Because we are presenting them to, not England, but the commerce of the Empire, of which Canada forms a part. The Liberal policy in this matter has been one of procrastination. They feel they cannot be built in 20 years. They don't want to be part of the British Empire."

"They say it's a contribution. It's the kind of contribution I would give to my church. They say they would build the ships in Canada. They want free trade in everything else, but protection in everything else."

"The responsibility now falls upon you to say whether or not the Empire shall break or be maintained. I leave the question with you to decide, but the Conservative party will stand or fall by 'One King, One Empire, and insofar as present exigencies are concerned, One Central Fleet.'

ELECTRICAL CLUB MEETING ON WED.

There will be a meeting of the McGill Electric Club on Wednesday, Feb 11th, at 8:15 p.m. in Room 38 of the Engineering Building. Mr. J. A. Cooke, of Science '14, will address the Club on the Shawinigan Hydro-Electric Power Plant. All those who are interested are invited to attend.

President Lowell of Harvard University, will give the opening address seventh annual meeting of the Eastern Massachusetts section of the Classical Association of New England to be held in Harvard Hall, Cambridge, on Feb. 14. The programme is as follows:

WESTERN CLUB MEETING.

Preparations have been completed for the meeting on Wednesday evening of the Western Club. Mr. Todd, the honorary president, who has made a reputation for himself for his researches in Africa, will be the guest of honor.

BOXES ARE ALL SOLD

For the Hockey Match With Varsity on Friday

All but two or three boxes for the hockey match on Friday night have been sold, according to figures obtained from the Students' Council office yesterday afternoon.

But not many of the ordinary seats have been taken yet. From talk about the college, it has been ascertained that the members of the club will attend this match than the last one. Hopas

All seats may be obtained at the Students' Council office in the Union.

TO PURCHASE THE "ONSLAUGHT"

Campaign Proceeding Well in Arts Faculty—Letter From Eric Billington

Contributions to the Tait MacKenzie "Onslaught" campaign are coming in. Fifty dollars has been reported from the Arts Faculty.

The following letter has been received by the editor from Eric Billington, of last year's football team:

Box 497,
Sydney, C.B.
5-2-14.

To the Editors,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sirs—It is with very great pleasure that I hear an attempt is to be made to obtain subscriptions towards the purchase of a reproduction of some work of Dr. Tait MacKenzie's.

When the idea was first put forward last year, I was very much interested, and regretted that it was found impracticable to go forward with the scheme then.

Any McGill man who had the good fortune (as I personally had), to visit the exhibit of Dr. Mackenzie's in the Art Gallery last Christmas, I am sure could not help enjoying it and feeling a certain amount of pride in that.

Mr. Mathewson who chose as his subject "Imperialism." Mr. Mattheewson showed by his fluency of speech and breadth of knowledge, the present situation in Europe. He pleaded for a wider recognition of the principles underlying the greatness of the British Empire, and condemned in no uncertain terms the attitude of some Canadians toward this great question.

Mr. Elliott then spoke very fluently and forcefully, showing himself thoroughly conversant with the French language. He presented his address in French, "Switzerland," in a very attractive manner, speaking of the nature of the little land and its inhabitants. The Swiss are a very industrious and independent people, making exceedingly suitable immigrants if they could be attracted to this country.

The last speaker was Mr. Donald, of Arts '15, who spoke on the life and influence of Lord Strathcona. He referred feelingly to the character of the great statesman, and his benefactions to the Royal Victoria College.

The second speaker was Mr. Arthur Mathewson who chose as his subject "Imperialism." Mr. Mattheewson showed by his fluency of speech and breadth of knowledge, the present situation in Europe. He pleaded for a wider recognition of the principles underlying the greatness of the British Empire, and condemned in no uncertain terms the attitude of some Canadians toward this great question.

The last speaker was Mr. Philip Brais, who summed up humorously the speeches of the preceding English orators; Mr. Layton, who spoke with fluency and ease on the status of the French language in Canada. The last speaker was Mr. Etienne Odelet, who spoke of his travels in Belgium.

I trust, when the subject is brought forward, everyone will see their way clear to contribute some small amount towards this object.

Thanking you, sirs, for your valuable space, I am

Yours sincerely,
ERIC BILLINGTON.

Those who have not yet handed in their Union Dance tickets are requested to do so without delay. Many refunds for tickets bought for the dance still remain unclaimed at the Students' Council office in the Union.

ARCHITECTS ARE MEETING

E. L. Wren Is To Speak

The Architectural Association will hold its regular meeting to-night in the Engineering Building, at 8:15. Mr. E. L. Wren, the Montreal representative of the Bromsgrove Guild of England, will give an address on "Wood."

The address will deal with different methods of wood working—inlaying, veneering, etc., besides wood carving and furniture making. Mr. Wren is a man of considerable experience, and his address is sure to be interesting. There is also some important business up, and a full attendance of members is requested.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

"How now, spirit, whither wanderest thou?"

"Out on the campus, I once was found,
When a game was on, I was a-way's round,
Cheering the boys to score one more,
Inspiring the crowd to another roar,
Waiting my chance, through the college yell,
To raise their hearts and hope as well."

"What is thy name, O noble spirit,
Who didst defend the Red and White?"

"I am the spirit of Old McGill,
I once was here,—am I still noticeable?"

TIE DECLARED FOR MEDAL

At Oratorial Contest Last Night

FRENCH CLUB

Mathewson and Elliott So Equal For Medal Prize in French Club That Decision Postponed

The annual public speaking contest of the French Club was held last evening at Strathcona Hall. Silver and bronze medals had been offered by the Alliance Francaise, one for the best speech by an English-speaking member of the club, and the other for competition among the French-speaking members.

After due deliberation the judges were unable to decide between Messrs. Mathewson and Elliott, of Law '16, for the silver medal, reserving their decision until after a further hearing of the candidates. The bronze medal was awarded to Mr. Laviolette, also of Law '16.

The club met for supper in the Union, and afterwards adjourned to the Strathcona Hall, where the contest was held. The president introduced Professor Du Rouse and Mr. Fabre Surveyor, of the Alliance Francaise, who had kindly consented to act as judges. Mr. Du Rouse explained the conditions of the contest. The candidates were to speak for about five minutes, and were not limited in choice of subject.

The first speaker was Mr. D. McDonald, of Arts '15, who spoke on the life and influence of Lord Strathcona. He referred feelingly to the character of the great statesman, and his benefactions to the Royal Victoria College.

The second speaker was Mr. Arthur Mathewson, who chose as his subject "Imperialism." Mr. Mattheewson showed by his fluency of speech and breadth of knowledge, the present situation in Europe. Irving and Mr. Henry Crocker deserve equal praise for their work. The one emotional, the other subdued, were a remarkable antithesis, balancing the excellencies of Miss Hackney, as Scina, the wrynecked harridan, adequately represented a character that did not lend itself exceptionally to easy interpretation. She is a consummate artist, else she would have lost herself in a swarm of characters. The minor parts were well filled.

OUT FOR A CROWD

The Daily is out for a big crowd on Friday night.

The first team will meet Toronto and it is practically certain that the second team will encounter the R.M.C. squad. A good exhibition of hockey is promised.

Victories on Friday night will depend largely on the support that the teams get. They have the right sort of stuff in them but it needs to be called out. The teams will do great things if they feel that they have the student body behind them.

Playing before a small, half-hearted crowd is disheartening in the extreme. The player will certainly not get worked up to the supreme effort that is necessary if his work does not receive the encouragement that it deserves.

Does the work of our hockey teams need our interest? If we look at it in the proper light, it most assuredly does. Do they not seek distinction for their Alma Mater when they engage in the game? When they win, are we not justly proud that we can call them "our team?" And how often have they won when we were not there to see them win.

Be out there on Friday night. And if you have a pair of lungs, use them.

McGill Twenty-Four Months Ago

FROM THE MCGILL DAILY, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1912.

The late Dr. Bovey, ex-Dean, was widely known as great authority, and was the recipient of all the world of Science can bestow on its most distinguished and best favored leaders.

The annual election for the Students' Council presidency and for various undergraduate bodies represented on the Council. The first name to be mentioned in this connection seems to be that of Mr. John MacNaughton vice-president of the Union, and prominent debater.

Rendition of songs of original nature to enliven the Science Dinner. The committee has a number of surprises in store for the banqueters. The services of several student composers has been requisitioned, with the result that the undergraduates will be treated to some monologues and songs.

The fourth annual Arts Dinner took place at the Castle Blend, and proved an unqualified success. Andrew Broder, M.P., was the guest of honor, and delivered a witty and interesting address.

BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION

Conservatives Accuse Liberals

DICTAPHONE

Victory of Staunch Old Organization Hurled to Ground by Conservatives

For some time past vague rumours of bribery have been circulated. Accusations have been brought up against the Liberals by ardent Conservatives from time to time, but as this is the case on both sides in every political affair, little heed was paid to these indefinite charges. At last some accusing evidence has been found which proves without doubt, the guilt of the Liberals.

One of the foremost Liberal ministers is accused of bribery. In justice to him it should be said that he must have accepted this bribe in a moment of weakness, as all his friends speak highly of his honesty heretofore. In spite of his former good record, he still succeeded in the sight of all his fellow students, accused by something more convincing than mere circumstantial evidence.

By the merest chance suspicion against him was aroused; a private detective speedily found and commissioned to get to the bottom of the affair. By learning of a secret appointment the detective was able to accompany his mission in a very secret manner. After learning of this meeting, which was to be held in a house on Mansfield street, the detective, by pretending to be a McGill student, obtained an adjoining vacant room, and there installed himself; and in the absence of his neighbors placed a skillfully concealed dictaphone between the two rooms.

At the time of the meeting, several prominent Conservatives were crowded around the receiving end of the dictaphone, and the incriminating conversation being carried on in the next room was taken down word for word.

The chief substance of this conversation may be condensed into the following few lines: With some slight misgivings, but practically no hesitation, the Liberal minister commented, "By the way, I have a certain friend from the dictaphone which he had prepared for tonight, but also to endeavor as much as possible to sway his party in the direction of the Conservatives. All this he agreed to do in consideration of the sum of ten dimes, and a note for $10.00."

The question now before the Conservative is, Shall he denounce the guilty man, and thus bring shame on the Liberal party as a whole, causing outsiders to look down on a large number of the student body with contempt, or shall they allow the guilty member to hold his position, and thus, shall they request him to resign quietly, which would probably have the same result as doing nothing open at his place of employment?

Ed. Note.—The "Agency" would be pressed to exhibit the wonderful instrument, which has been of such service to the party, had not the machine suddenly fallen to pieces when the Conservative leader suddenly took from his pocket $1, all at one time. In the excitement of its removal, it passed away of nervous debility.

The Conservative party feels the shame of this affair probably more than the Liberal party, as the Conservatives had hoped that at least their opponents would act honorably and not tarnish the fair name of the students of McGill.

DETECTAGRAPH

Battle Lost to Grand Old Party Through Perfidy of Few

Liberals

Pep Paisley, who has been in the hospital suffering from appendicitis is doing well. He expects to leave the hospital by the end of the week. It is his intention to go home for at least a week in order that he may have a short rest before returning to work again.

The secret is indeed well guarded. Not unlike a slightly unscrupulous wealthy club, the Conservative leader, means causally against a garbage can. For only one minute, altogether, out of forty, is he heard to be in conversation. The Agency man has had time to attain to a down-town tavern, imitate the necessary, and return to continue the horrible affair. It can be easily understood that he was using the Third Degree on his weary victim.

The Vaccine measure will not be introduced. At the expense of two of the marked coppers, and one bit bill, the Liberal party have shut the mouths of the greatest orator in favor of the measure. If it is introduced, it will not be passed; if it is passed, it will not come into force. The deed is done.

By a mere calculation, the reader can tell that approximately one cabinet officer, and a Conservative whip, can be sold for one half-cart wheel. One minister, plus two members, plus a specialist, would cost 51 cents.

To what extent have our policies fallen? Our morals dropped away from us; has our country been ruined, and our pocket-book emptied by such degradation? Has it been shown by that forty old dictaphone?

Ed. Note.—How enormous is the offence of the Liberals can be understood when it is stated that the owner of the detectograph, on the tablets of which such terrible records are kept called for the machine, on their instigation, and as we had been unable to pay the rent for it, had sold same tablets to a down town restaurant, to roll out into pancakes.

Latin and Greek ought to be regarded as luxuries, not as essentials in education. It was to be hoped that in the near future there would be an organized revolt of British parents, and that they would demand that their boys should be taught what would be of use to them afterwards, modern language, including English, natural science and mathematics.

From his experience as a headmaster, Professor Baker went on, and from the experience of others similarly placed, he thought it was the matter of great doubt whether the number of free places was not already too high.

The number of clever boys in any class was quite small. By cleverness he did not mean the capacity for learning.

Real cleverness was the almost automatic power of picking out the essentials from a mess of inessentials, getting in fact to the root of the matter of a subject.

It was too frequently the boy with a good memory, and that alone, who was picked out of the elementary school and sent on his upward way as something out of the common. Such boys had of course their proper and useful place in the scheme of things, but they were not going to do great things in the world. It was the other boys, the ones that needed that extra push at the top, and that they just must grit besides. He must be able to struggle and fight his way up and, for this reason, let them hope that all the difficulties would not be cleared away. It was a ladder they wanted, not a moving staircase.

TWENTY OUT AT THE PRACTICE

Prospects For a Win Friday Are Very Bright

NO CRIPPLES

Ragged Edges Are Fast Being Removed by Steady Work

About twenty players took part in a very strenuous practice at the Arena yesterday afternoon. Work was the order of the day and from the way the players got into the game, Toronto Varsity will have their hands full when they meet the red and white septet here next Friday.

All those who have figured on the line-up at any time this year were out and for an hour were put through their traces. None of the men show any sign of wear. The rest, last week, being responsible for the form of the partial cripples. There will be no complaints of sore ankles, etc., when the maulers on the ice for their contest with the blue and white.

The extra men who were present made it possible to cut out the good men, and thus the general ton of the practice was greatly superior to the usual afternoon practice. During half the practice the senior and intermediate defences were interchanged, and both before and after this change the teams seemed to be pretty even. Only three goals were netted during the whole workout. This one department, the scoring, now seems to be in first weakness. On the defensive and on the offensive, the team seems to be O.K., but most of the offensive work is wasted by inability to end the contest with a sure tally.

Ryley, Davidson, De Muth and Masson formed a hard working quartette for the seniors at the beginning of the hour. De Muth and Masson, on the wings, seemed to have excellent control of their checks. Playing very not too strenuous, was very effective when dealt out by these men. If they play the same game for the rest of the year there will be good cause to place great confidence in the ultimate outcome of the rest of the matches. The wings have caused a good deal of trouble in the past matches, and so the improvement along this line is well timed. Hooper played with the seconds. He has got his body check down to a nicely, and time and again blocked off likely rushes by its use. Playing against the seniors he had great opportunities and made some pretty little rushes. He will probably start off in the game with Varsity, and should give them a good deal of trouble with his shot.

Mann, Hughes and Rankin were out again in their positions. The last few weeks has seen a great advance in the method of goal protection, which these men have developed. Mann, right in the nets, takes good care that all the shots which escape from the opponents sticks in spite of Hughes' and Rankin's valiant efforts to reach their intended destination. Parsons appeared at about half-time, and his play was spectacular all through. His foot is still a little sore, but that is not likely to affect him when he gets into the game.

Those out were: Mann, Montgomery, Kendall, Fraser, De Muth, Rankin,

TEAM CHOSEN FOR CORNELL

They Leave Thursday Night For Ithaca

HOME MONDAY

Will Vaccination Prevent Science Students Taking Part?

The wrestling team leaves for Ithaca on Thursday evening next to meet Cornell on the Saturday following, and will return to Montreal on Monday morning. The team will be composed of the following men:—

115 lbs.—Banfield.
125 lbs.—Audette.
135 lbs.—Ramsay.
145 lbs.—Sutherland.
155 lbs.—Macphail.
175 lbs.—Trotter.

All the men mentioned above are requested to report, either personally or by telephone to Macphail at 1049, if they can go. Some anxiety is felt regarding the members of the team, who are in the Faculty of Science, and who have presumably been vaccinated.

"It is just to imagine, however, that an opponent who should scratch against the spot already scratched might arouse such vigor and ferocity in the McGill man as would greatly improve the chances of the team in that weight, but that is a matter on which the opinion of the Science men in question might be of value. Hence the necessity of the men mentioned reporting to-day, in order that any changes required may be made in time.

Masson, Ryley, Hooper, McCall, Hershey, Ross, Hughes, Davidson, Brophy, Gilmore, Johnson, McFarlane, Fuller and Parsons.

Friday Night Is Likely to Be First Game

TWO GAMES

Return Match Will Be Played In Kingston Next Week

It has been practically decided to hold the first of the home and home games between R. M. C. I. and McGill on Friday night, after the Varsity-McGill game. There are a few minor details yet to be arranged, so that this announcement may be considered almost final. The second game will be held the following week in Kingston, the team making the journey to the penitentiary city with the seniors, when the latter go up to play Queens.

The winner of this series of games will then be called upon to play off with the Varsity II., which were returned as leaders of their section last Saturday morning.

R. M. C. always have a good team. The match Friday without the advantage of the senior fixture, would have been sure to draw a good crowd. With the likelihood of two games a record attendance is warranted. McGill are prepared to put up a good show in the hopes of running up a high score. They intend to make too big a margin for the soldiers to overcome in the return match. If they qualify to meet the blue and white, the match will be played in Kingston.

McGill Team Has Practiced Hard To Come Out Ahead

HOCKEY TO-DAY.

A notice as to what practice will be held to-day and where, will be posted in the Union during the day. The players are requested to make it their duty to find out the arrangements which are to be made by the hockey management.

The team will show the cadets the finer points of the game of hockey. Montgomery is to play in goal. His work in the nets has been spectacular all year, and he should aid in keeping the soldiers' score very low; if he does not eliminate it altogether. Kendall and Gilmore will play at cover point and point respectively. These two men have been playing together in most of the practices to date. They are familiar with one another's play, and will be sure to form a fast and efficient back division.

The choice of a forward is much more difficult. There are five or six men from which the various positions might be ably filled. Brophy, Wickson, Fraser, Ross and McCall have all done good work during the year. Hersey is another player who might well be placed in the line-up. He played at cover point to-day, and pulled off some very speedy runs. Fuller, Johnson and McFarlane were three newcomers. They all had a chance for a few minutes. The other workouts this week will give these men further chances to prove their worth.

The conductor, evidently knowing her, assured her that he would, and passed on to the Italian.

INTERMEDIATES ARE PREPARING

Strong Team Will Meet R.M.C. In First Match

FRIDAY NIGHT

Line Up For the Game Is Still Problematic

The McGill Intermediates should not lack material when they are called upon to play the R. M. C. I. as they are likely to be Friday night. At yesterday's practice there were a large number of very promising candidates. The team will show the cadets the finer points of the game of hockey. Montgomery is to play in goal. His work in the nets has been spectacular all year, and he should aid in keeping the soldiers' score very low; if he does not eliminate it altogether. Kendall and Gilmore will play at cover point and point respectively. These two men have been playing together in most of the practices to date. THE INTERFACULTY SWIMMING MEET.

The Interfacy preliminaries, at which McGill's representatives for the Intercollegiate meet will be picked, is to be held February 20th, at the Y. M. C. A.

There are several points in which the red and white are weak. They have no long plunger. Repeated calls have as yet not discovered anyone to fill this important position. A back stroke diver is also needed. Perhaps before the next week, however, men will be found to represent McGill in these events.

DATE OF THE SENIOR PLAY
HAS NOW BEEN SELECTED

February 27 is the Day Chosen—"Manoeuvres of Jane" Is To Be the Title—Cast Is Named

The senior play will be presented this year on Friday, February 27, at the Royal Victoria College. Rehearsals for the performance have been in progress for several weeks, and last night the date was announced. As previously stated, the piece chosen is "The Manoeuvres of Jane," a light comedy in four acts, by Arthur J. Innes. The cast includes some of the members of the class of 1914, in Arts, and the Royal Victoria College, appear to be admirably suited to their roles. Miss Helen Taylor and Miss Norrie Purridge, as Jane Nangle and Constantine Gape, are proving themselves to be very capable actresses. Messrs. MacKenzie, Hemming, Wilgress, McConnell and Henson, in the leading male roles, are sure to create a sensation. Others included in the cast are Misses Bodie, MacKenzie, Greggs, Longworth, Fritz, Lingel, Currie and MacArthur, and Messrs. McGregor, Gale and Hardy.

Announcement is made by the committee for the Lloyd McKinnon prize at Harvard University, that the subject for 1913-1914 is "Panama." This endowment provides for a prize consisting of $100 and a silver medal for the "best poem on a subject or subjects annually to be chosen and announced by a committee of the department of English." The competition is open to all undergraduates.

Stanley K. Smith, of Westfield, Mass., has been elected captain of the Yale basketball team, succeeding David L. Dunn. Dunn, who is also a football player, has left college.

The seats will not be reserved, and will sell at seventy-five cents. Ticket will be opened in a few days. Last year the hall was well filled, and it is expected that this year an even greater number will attend.

An added attraction will be the presence of the now famous McGill Orchestra. Better this year than ever, it will render several selections on the evening of the performance never before given by them in public.

The kind of contribution I would give to my church. They say they would build the ships in Canada. They want free trade in everything else, but protection in battleships.

"The responsibility now falls upon you to say whether or not the Empire shall break or be maintained. I leave the question with you to decide, but the Conservative party will stand or fall by 'One King, One Empire, and insofar as present exigencies are concerned, One Central Fleet.'

ELECTRICAL CLUB MEETING ON WED.

THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE OF CANADA

HERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a government institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science, leaders and officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact, it serves to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, ten for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects who form such an important part of the College course. Medical at

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is the result of the strict rules of the course, and, in addition, the constant practice of gymnastic drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds, ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial service and Canadian Permanent Forces are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the Regulations of the Law Commission for Dominion Land Surveyor, to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, to receive the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extra fees, about $3000.

The annual examination for admission to the College takes place in May of each year at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Royal Military Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

A man ordered a drink at a bar, and when the barkeep set the bottle out, he poured an immense slug. Then he kicked.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S GIFT TO R. V. C.

Piece of tapestry hangs on wall in Assembly Hall, which Queen Mother presented, through Earl Grey, is the work of Mrs. G. F. Watts—The significance of the designs thereon.

In the Assembly Hall of the Royal General of Canada, April, 1907. Victoria College there stands a case containing a banner, a piece of tapestry done by Mrs. Watts, and presented to the college by Queen Alexandra. Although it has hung there for many years it is a lamentable fact that the majority of the students are entirely ignorant of what it is, and the suggestion which the design conveys to those who can understand it, and all others understand it, which has been explained to them is that our Canada—The Lady of the Snows has got to grow up to her crown. Thus the central idea of the banner is the unfolding of Canada, and the reaching up towards the attainment of high ideals.

On each side of this figure there is a slight and suggestive binding together of the maple leaf and the rose—and in a scroll on either side, into which the little root filaments of the rose and the maple descend are the words:

"Peace and growth to her,
Strength and Worth to her."

These words are translated from a Gaelic blessing.

Then, flying like holy doves round the foot and about the way of the Seven Sons of the Spirit:

The gifts of Wisdom, which sees things in their true proportion with truth and with the courage that comes from a right judgment.

The gifts of Purity, opening the eyes to that which is higher than self-interest and inspiring noble self-sacrifice.

The gifts of Strength, which is based on temperance and mastery over self.

The gifts of Comfort, sympathy and service—the special work of the spirit of God.

The gifts of Understanding, which comes from light within, revealing the deepest meanings of Life.

The gifts of Courage, with its roots in the words, "I can," which is gained by learning and practice—a gift by the power of which men do their best work, whether they are born to reach through struggle, or to serve through rejoicing.

And finally, the gifts of Dred of Reverence, which Mrs. Watts thinks sums up the other six, for Reverence makes. Wish to care for her shoes especially round.

Virtue is enabled by Reverence; Strength held in check by Reverence;

Comfort becomes a consecration by Reverence;

Understanding is made higher and wider by Reverence;

Knowledge inspired by Reverence is Praise and Worship."

and individual passions, frailties, virtues and strength.

Into the humble pit-workers' sphere of existence there creep the ever-new though eternal questions of belief, faith, and salvation, adherence to moral customs and parental authority. None of these problems is dealt with after a didactic or propagandistic manner but simply as a revelation of conditions as they really and prevalently exist.

It is a tragic tale of the helplessness of a miner's home: tragic in that much of the sorrow is brought upon the household through the failure of individual members to treat the prejudices of others with due charity.

The parents who have educated themselves to believe that their sons need money have advantages that had been denied to them, find each of the sons in turn, departing from the line of action laid down in these parental ambitions.

One son who has been trained for the ministry finds it impossible to conform to the doctrines of the church and being the possessor of a rich tenor voice finds his way to the stage.

The second son—the invalid favorite—is killed during a strike riot, caused by the incitement of his own brother.

This third son, the agitator, submits to his brother's death, departs for Australia, to seek forgetfulness in a new environment.

The parents are left alone and desolate, but a note of hope is sounded by the yielding of the old man so far as to summon his son home again.

For artistic work in the presentation of "Change," all credit must be given to the entire company. Ernest Coe is as the conductor, always giving a strong and consistent portrayal of the character. White Lilian Mason, as the wife and Harold R. A. Hopkins and John Howell as the three sons, by a uniformity of excellent work, render selection of discrimination almost impossible.

There is one character in the play whose homely humor and philosophy add much to its interests. This role is handled by Edmond Kennedy, and no account would be complete that failed to pay full tribute to his splendid presentation of it.

F. G. II.

HIS MAJESTY'S.

When one sees such names as Kaskhin, Zosin, Raskolnikoff, Koltoff, and a few other offshoots adorning the pages on the order of "The Merry Widow," "The Great White Way," "The Castle Walk," "The Restoration," "The One-Step," "The Argentine Tango," and the "Mazurka-Humme," "The Castle Walk," though original, can scarcely be called graceful.

The Great Howard has no doubt been seen before by Orpheum goers, in his ventriloquial act. No motion of his lips is to be seen when he is making his dummies talk, laugh, or even cry. Howard was afforded a generous applause.

The Icelandic Gilma Troupe presents a demonstration of Gilma, i.e., Icelandic wrestling. The feet play an important part in this science. The audience were shown how a single man repulses attacks by assassins armed with sabres and revolvers; and also how, with arms tied, a man may repeat a pugilist.

Will Russells and Von Kaufman gave a splendid dialogue. The "colored person" applies for a "job"—not for work; and plenty of clever repartees ensues.

Dunbar's Nine White Hussars form striking example of what perfection in ensemble orchestral work may be obtained. The White Nonette also rendered two part songs in a very pleasing manner. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon were shown by the OrpheumScope in "The Castle Walk," "The Restoration," "The One-Step," "The Argentine Tango," and the "Mazurka-Humme."

"The Balkan Princess," "The Argentinian," "The Castle Walk," though original, can scarcely be called graceful. The more familiar dances were skillfully executed. The Maxine Breislaine and displays to advantage the skill and poise of the dancers. A come film closed the performance.

A. R. G., 17.

PRINCESS.

It is doubtful if any play has been presented locally since the appearance of "Hindle Wakes" one year ago, which can support rely upon its inherent excellence and proximity to true art, as can "Change," the play being presented at the Princess this week.

A play of charm it cannot be called, for we take it charm entails an element of romance, a play of lighter and softer emotions in a harmonious setting.

"Change" possesses neither this element nor the setting for it. It does possess, however, a true and accurate picture of circumstances, a bold and rugged delineation of characters and events that for the space of its presentation must hold one with an irresistible grip of the attention, both mental and emotional.

TWENTY OUT AT THE PRACTICE

Prospects For a Win Friday Are Very Bright

NO CRIPPLES

Ragged Edges Are Fast Being Removed by Steady Work

About twenty players took part in a very strenuous practice at the Arena yesterday afternoon. Work was the order of the day, and from the way the players got into the game, Toronto Varsity will have their hands full when they meet the red and white septete here next Friday.

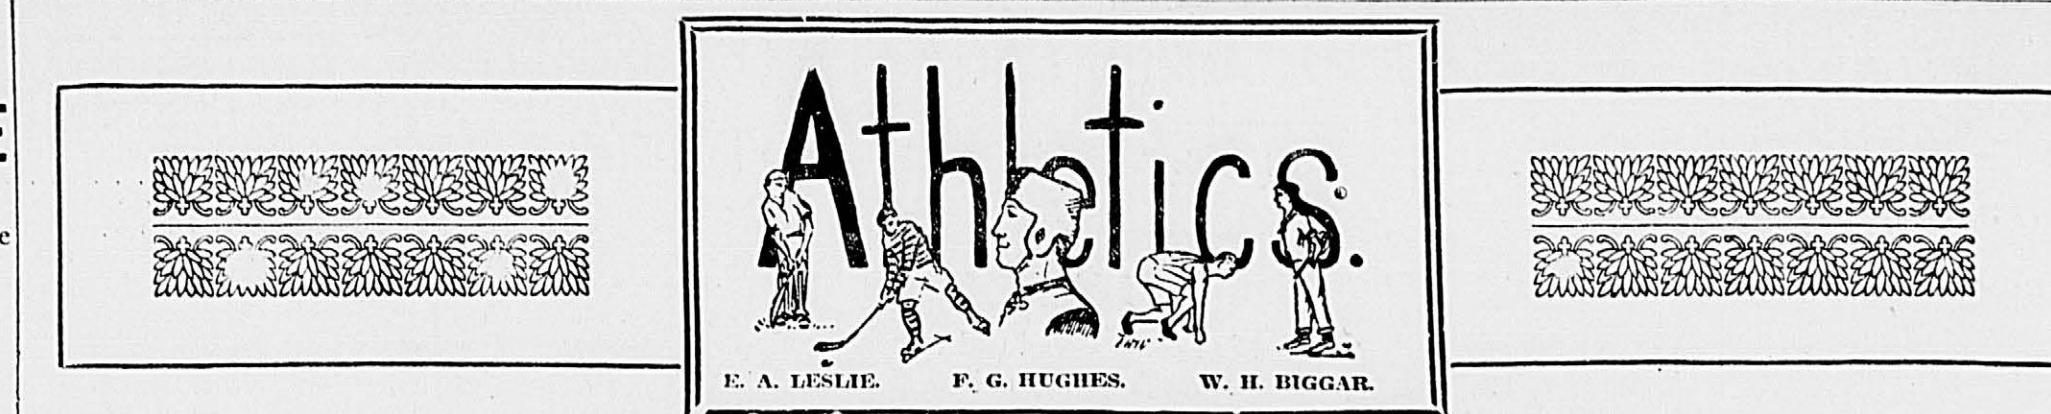

All those who have figured on the line-up at any time this year were out, and for an hour were put through their paces. None of the men showed signs of wear. The rest, last week, became responsible for the return to form of the partial cripples. There will be no complaints of sore ankles, etc., when the men go on the ice for their contest with the blue and white.

The extra men who were present made it possible to cull out the good men, and thus the general tone of the practice was greatly superior to the usual afternoon practice. During half the practice the senior and intermediate defences were interchanged, and both before and after this change the teams seemed to be pretty even. Only about two goals were scored during the whole workout. This one department, the scoring, now seems to be the great weakness, on the defensive and on the offensive the team seems to be O.K., but most of the offensive work is wasted by inability to end the rushes with a sure tally.

Ryley, Davidson, De Muth and Masson formed a hard working quartette for the seniors at the beginning of the hour. De Muth and Masson, on the wings, seemed to have excellent control of their checks. Bodding, while not too strenuous, was very effective when dealt out by these men. If they play the same game for the rest of the year there will be good cause for placing great confidence in the ultimate outcome of the rest of the matches. The wings have caused a good deal of worry in the past matches, and so the improvement along this line is well-timed. Hooper played with the seconds. He has got his body check down to a nicely, and time and again blocked off likely rushes by its use. Playing against the seniors he had great opportunities and made some pretty little dashes. He will probably start off in the game with Varsity, and should give them a good deal of trouble.

Mann, Hughes and Rankin were out again in their positions. The last few weeks has seen a great advance in the method of goal protection, which these men have developed. Mann, right in the nets, takes good care that all the shots which escape from the opponents sticks, in spite of Hughes' and Rankin's vigilance, do not reach their intended destination. Parsons appeared at about the middle of the practice and played all through. His foot is still a little sore, but that is not likely to affect him when he gets into the game.

Those out were: Mann, Montgomery, Kendall, Fraser, De Muth, Rankin,

INTERMEDIATES ARE PREPARING

Strong Team Will Meet R.M.C. In First Match

FRIDAY NIGHT

Line Up For the Game Is Still Problematic

The McGill Intermediates should not lack material when they are called upon to play the R. M. C. I., as they are likely to be Friday night. At yesterday's practice there were a large number of very promising candidates. The team will show the cadets the finer points of the game of hockey. Montgomery is to play in goal. His work in the nets has been spectacular all year, and he should aid in keeping the soldiers' score very low. If he does not eliminate it altogether, Kendall and Gilmore will play in center and point respectively. These two may have been playing together in most of the practices to date. They are familiar with one another's play, and will be sure to form a fast defensive back division.

The choice of a forward line is much more difficult. There are five or six men from which the various positions might be able filled. Brophy, Wickson, Fraser, Ross and McCall have all done good work during the year. Hersey is another player who might well be placed in the line-up. He scored a cover point yesterday, and pulled off some very speedy rushes. Fuller, Johnson and McFarlane were three newcomers. They all had a chance for a few minutes. The other workouts this week will give these men further chances to prove their worth.

ANTI-CLIMAX.

A woman who, by hearing end dress, could be distinguished as "new rich," entered a street car and with a very smugly air seated herself near an old Italian. When the conductor came to take up the fares she said to him in a loud voice:

"Let me off at my husband's bank."

The conductor, evidently knowing her, assured her that he would, and passed on to the Italian.

"Let me off at my peanut stand," called out the old fellow as he paid his fare.—Buffalo Commercial.

TEMPERAMENT.

"Why did the great pianist refuse to play?"

"Temperament. He got mad because his name was printed in smaller type on the programme than the name of the piano on which he was to perform.—Chicago Record-Herald."

Ed. Cook was a painter with considerable native wit. One day just before dinner, when his shop was full of customers, a man whom he did not like very well came in and asked for a dime's worth of dog paint.

"All right," said Ed, "will you have it wrapped up or just eat it here?"—Everybody's.

Reilly—"Pat was drowned yesterday."

Reilly—"Can't he swim?"

Reilly—"Yes, but he was a union man. He swam eight hours and then quit."

Everybody's.

TEAM CHOSEN FOR CORNELL

They Leave Thursday Night For Ithaca

HOME MONDAY

Will Vaccination Prevent Science Students Taking Part?

The wrestling team leaves for Ithaca on Thursday evening next, to meet Cornell on Saturday following, and will return to Montreal on Monday morning. The team will be composed of the following men:

115 lbs.—Bainfield.
125 lbs.—Audette.
135 lbs.—Ramsay.
145 lbs.—Sutherland.
155 lbs.—Macphail.
175 lbs.—Trapp.

All the men mentioned above are requested to report either personally at the wrestling class this afternoon or by telephone to the Captain at 1449 if they can go. Some anxiety is felt regarding the members of the team who are in the Faculty of Science, and who have—presumably—been vaccinated. There is just a chance, however, that an opponent who should scratch again the spot already scratched might arouse such vigor and ferocity in the McGill man as would greatly improve the chances of the team in that weight, but that is a matter on which the opinion of the Science men in question might be of value. Hence the necessity of the men mentioned reporting to-day in order that any changes required may be made in time.

Masson, Ryley, Hooper, McCall, Hersey, Ross, Hughes, Davidson, Brophy, Gilmore, Johnson, McFarlane, Fuller and Parsons.

HE COULDN'T IMAGINE.

"Why are you so different from writers like Stevenson and other critics?" asked the critic.

"I can't imagine," returned the realist.

"I guess you are right," said the critic.—The Sun.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

We see people every day who ought to be glad they will have to pay taxes on their incomes instead of on their expenses.—Chicago Record-Herald.

"How do you account for the falling art in certain steps in your district?" "It's to be expected," replied Senator Sargent. "People will fall off a band wagon, the same as a water wagon."—Washington Star.

OTTO DE MUTH,

HIGHLANDERS INVITE MCGILL

Boxing Meet Is To Be Held Next Saturday

SEVEN CLASSES

McGill Team Has Practiced Hard To Come Out Ahead

The McGill contingent of boxers will journey over to the armoury of the 5th Royal Highlanders, Bleury st., on Saturday evening next to meet the representatives of that regiment in a friendly set-to. All the men will make the exhibition put up by the McGill squad in their recent meet with the M.A.A. will be glad to read the invitation which is here given. A good crowd will be sure to take advantage of this opportunity, and will undoubtedly be glad they did so. Such a crowd would be a substantial way to show McGill appreciation of the following:

The officers and men of the 5th Royal Highlanders of Canada request the pleasure of the company of the McGill students at the forthcoming Boxing Meet which is dated for Saturday next, commencing at 8.30 sharp.

The teams are as follows:

McGill—Heavy, Mr. Ross; 158, Mr. Cleary; 145, Mr. Montgomerie; 135, Mr. Harold; 135, Mr. Atkinson; 125, Mr. Forbes; 115, Mr. Lawson.

5th Royal Highlanders—Heavy, Pte. Marshall; 158, Pte. Small; 145, Pte. Johnson; 135, Pte. Race; 135, Pte. Bailey; 125, Pte. Rowe; 115, Dr. Denton.

SERGT. BLAKE.

MODERN FARMING.

Neighber From Town—I understand you're sellin' off your cows?

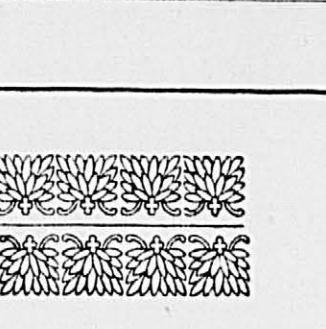

Farmer Cornsilk—Yep. Ain't got no place to keep 'em. My boy Bill wants 'em south meadow for a golf links.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The University of Pennsylvania crews will have plenty of racing in preparing for the big colligate events, according to Coach Vivian Nickalls.

He expects to arrange races with every eight in the Schuylkill navy, which includes 11 rowing clubs in this city.

The captains of the various clubs along the Schuylkill river are ready to meet the Pennsylvania crews.

HOCKEY TO-DAY.

A notice as to what practice will be held to-day and where, will be posted in the Union during the day. The players are requested to make it their duty to find out the arrangements which are to be made by the hockey management.
